A strong identity. A shared family.

BASH Application Management Framework

The Operator combines a bold gorilla silhouette with AutomateTheCloud's cloud badge and official green-teal palette. This kit follows the approved smaller shoulder badge and retains the custom BAMF lettering.

DARK SURFACES

HORIZONTAL / WIDE HEADERS

Full stacked + subtitle	480px minimum width

Horizontal + subtitle	700px minimum width
Standalone mascot	96px minimum width
Wordmark / B favicon	96px / 16px minimum width

Use SVG for large or print work. Transparent assets preserve the face fill. The dark version adds a narrow mascot keyline for contrast; the ATC badge outline remains a filled shape.

USE BRAND TEAL FOR LARGE ACCENTS

Type, spacing and practical use.

IBM Plex Mono

Headings, labels, code and figures. Use 600 for headings, 500 for labels and 400 for code.

Space Grotesk

Body copy and interface text. Start at 16px with 1.6 line height.

IBM Plex Serif

Occasional pull quotes and epigraphs. Keep it out of ordinary body copy.

THE WORDMARK IS CUSTOM ARTWORK

The BAMF lettering is supplied as vector paths, not an installable font. Support typography follows the parent identity. Original font files are not bundled: use fonts/fetch-fonts.py or the official links in fonts/README.md.

Give the logo room

Leave at least 10% of the overall artwork width clear around the BAMF lockup. Keep the cloud badge proportionate and its dither grid intact. Switch to compact, wordmark or favicon assets as the available space shrinks.

Keep the artwork consistent

Scale uniformly. Avoid stretching, rotation, shadows, glow, gradients and texture. Use mono files for single-ink output. Check a physical proof before printing small cloud details on merchandise.

Ready for the repository

Copy the kit into brand/. Use docs/README-example.md for light/dark README markup. Use the 1200 x 630 PNG in social/ for the GitHub repository preview. The SVGs contain paths only and need no font installation.
